LOUIS, Mo., June 17. (AP) — A graceful, silver, monoplane, piloted by a work-worn biplane of the United States air mail service, sailed suddenly out of the deep fog over Lambert-St. Louis field at 3:32 o'clock this morning and five minutes later landed at Charles A. Lindbergh was dozen others, chipped in with him to finance the trans-Atlantic flight. There was nothing on his program, except a few hours with his mother, an informal dinner and rest against the two strenuous days immediately ahead. Rather Fly Than Eat. Colonel Lindbergh left New York for his trip home at 6:17 o'clock, St. Louis time, this morning, and, as if reluctant to come down, prolonged his flight until he had been in the air nine hours and twenty minutes, against seven hours and 15 minutes for his hop to New York May 12. The reception for the famous young colonel at the field had been set for 3:30 p. m., however, and he was on time nearly to the minute. St. Louis got back pretty much the same old "Slim" it sent away a few weeks ago to conquer space and distance in an achievement which will ring through ages. He still was rather diffident, apparently somewhat confused by the honors accorded him, considerate of the interest of others and smilingly vigorously with the likeness of his load of 25 years, but to those who know him best — the

CHAMBERLIN, LEVINE GIVE NEWSMEN SLIP TO WELCOME WIVES

Permitted on Board Ship Before Quarantine Inspection Ends

BREMENHAVEN, Germany, June 17. (AP) — Giving the slip to about 50 newspaper men and photographers, the trans-Atlantic aviators, Clarence Chamberlin and Charles Levine, had an early morning reunion with their wives, who arrived during the night of the liner Berlin from New York. "When we bade you all good night at about midnight," Chamberlin told the correspondents later, "we didn't even know we could see our wives within the next hour. We understood that the harbor regulations forbade boarding the ship until the quarantine inspection was finished, but we were informed we would be permitted to go aboard the Berlin. The official welcoming party with the newspapermen and photographers had drawn alongside the Berlin in a tender and soon on the upper deck of the liner the aviators and their wives were being subjected to a barrage of questions. A reporter asked Mrs. Levine whether she had forgiven her husband for his unannounced participation in the flight to which she replied "you bet. I think he is just wonderful." When Mrs. Chamberlin was asked what she thought of her husband now that he had become a hero she replied "it would be foolish to say."

BERLIN, June 17 (AP) — Mrs. Clarence D. Chamberlin and Mrs. Charles Levine, who rejoined their aviator husbands at Bremenhaven, today faced cheering crowds. The program lasted the entire day. When the first plane containing Chamberlin, Mrs. Chamberlin and Mrs. Levine touched ground to be followed several minutes later by the small plane in which Levine and Fraulein rode, the band broke out with the American anthem.

EX-HUSKING CHAMPION SETS SEEDING RECORD

PEORIA, Ill., June 17. (AP) — Elmer Williams of Toulon, state and former national corn husker hung up another world's championship this spring when he seeded 80 acres of barley and oats and finished planting 135 acres of corn single handed all before June 1. "He put in 215 acres without a day's help," said E. E. Brown, Stark county farm adviser. "Elmer, who is a modest champion, doesn't want his achievements noised about," Brown added. The achievement is all the more remarkable in a season of cold wet weather, officials of the Illinois Agricultural Association say. Williams is famed for his endurance and works from dawn to dark. He always husks his corn single handed.

HOUSE WIPES OUT LAST OF MEASURES BY KILLING THEM

Senate Bills to Come up in Reconvening Next Monday Afternoon

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 17. (AP) — Clearing the way for consideration of the senate bills, the house yesterday wiped the last of its own measures off the calendar. It jogged along until well in the afternoon on roll calls, suddenly terminated the session by tabling house bills remaining on order of passage. It then packed up and went home. The task of sending senate bills to the governor will be taken up at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon, the hour set to reconvene. A task of gigantic proportions is in prospect during the final week, when 221 measures on second reading and 34 now on third reading, must be disposed of. Included among these will be the new primary law, the Chicago bonding bills, the Chicago traction bills and other important issues. Members exercised their authority today in killing bills. Kill Measures. Disapproval was registered against a bill introduced by Representative J. Bert Miller, Kankakee, requiring publication twice yearly in a Springfield newspaper of the report of the state treasurer. Representative Lee O'Neill Browne, speaking against the measure, charged that it emanated from a spirit of antagonism against Governor Small and would serve no constructive purpose. It was defeated, 33 to 52. Representative Dursio's bill to bring under provisions of the mother's pension act, mothers whose husbands had been committed to the penitentiary or county jail for a period of more than six months, was also killed, 54 to 46. White House

RAPID CITY, S. D., June 17. (AP) — Describing his surroundings as "just exactly what I like," President Coolidge today settled down to the program of work and play which he hopes to follow during his vacation in the Black Hills. ## NORTH CHINA PACT SOUGHT AGAINST FOE

Sweeping Changes in View To Keep Out
Invaders

PEKING, June 17. (AP) — Sweeping reorganization of the Northern alliance in China, with Marshal Chang Tso-Lin as political and military dictator, to offer a solid front against the invading Nationalists of the south was announced today. This reorganization, the Northeners declare, will surely force the northern armies which have been loosely cooperating under the direct leadership of their own commanders and will arouse a new spirit which will restore the importance of Peking which has been politically dead for the past year. The program of the Ankuochun leaders for administrative reforms in the civil rules of the north as well as a unified command of all the Northern armies. All the Northern war lords have approved the plan which will wipe out the provincial distinctions between the Shantung Chihli and Manchurian forces and provide a degree of cohesion which was lacking in the old Ankuochun organization. It was admitted that the peace negotiations, which were under way between Chang Tso-Lin, Chiang Kai-Shek, Generalissimo of the Nanking or moderate nationalists, and Yen Hsi-Shen, governor of Chensi province, have lapsed, the Ankuochun contending that the southerners "did not show the necessary sincerity." It was announced this afternoon that Chang Tso-Lin had accepted the dictatorship of the Ankuochun and it was stated that his functions will include command of both the army and navy and direct responsibility for the civil government which is now in process of formation with Pan Fu, former minister of finance as premier. Sweeping administrative changes are expected in the reorganization since Chang Tso-Lin has already dominated the Peking cabinet for some time, at the now he is expected to take public responsibility for its work. Pan Fu has announced a program of administrative reform in the interest of economy and efficiency, but there is some skepticism as to just how much success this will have.

UNFAVORABLE WEATHER
HOLDS UP BYRD JUMP

NEW YORK, June 17. (AP) — Unfavorable weather caused Richard E. Byrd to postpone his trans-Atlantic flight today at least until Sunday night. That was the first moment he believed conditions could possibly be satisfactorily improved to permit a hop off. With Charles Lindbergh's reception completed, the last obstacle besides the weather has been removed, the Byrd flight. When Lindbergh made his flight to France, Byrd announced that he would not take off until Lindbergh got back and later said he would not start until the first "flush" of the Lindbergh welcome was over. Byrd, Bert Acosta and George Noville, the three who will fly together, are expected to leave for Roosevelt field today inspecting their plane and waiting the proper condition of the weather charts. Commander Byrd said he might take a fourth person on the flight but denied this person would be a woman. They are carrying 1,300 gallons of gasoline, sufficient to take four to Paris and beyond," he stated, "but the fourth, if there is one, will be a man."

PEACHES THIS YEAR WILL BE MORE THAN FIVE YEAR AVERAGE

June Figures Place Crop at Smaller Number Than Last Year

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 17. (AP) — The 1927 Illinois peach crop will be a million and a half bushels less this year than last, but will exceed in quantity the average for the past five years by about 50,000 bushels, said the June estimates of the Illinois department of agriculture made public here tonight. In quality, the report stated, this year's peach crop should surpass all others. Reports from commercial orchards and observations made by inspectors indicate that the bulk of the peach crop this year will come from the six southern tiers of counties. In that section, as a whole, estimates of the crop in prospect approximately equal last year's yield. United Johnson, Jackson, Williamson and Franklin counties are expected to take the lead in peach production this year, the report states. By way of comparison of the peach crop prospects of Illinois with competitive states, the state-federal crop estimate figures show that Georgia, with a potential crop of 5,655,000 bushels, will exceed Illinois this year. In this group, Arkansas is third with 1,118,000 bushels; North Carolina, fourth with 1,050,000 bushels; and Ohio fifth with 1,012,000 bushels. Estimates from the thirteen states that lead in peach production indicate that the nation's peach crop this year will be less than three-fourths of the 1926 production and about five sixths of the average yield of the past five year period. Apple Outlook. Mid-June observations in commercial apple orchards show that in the southern section of Illinois, early varieties are expected to yield only about 35 percent of a crop, while, fall and winter varieties in the same territory are even less promising. In the Western Illinois counties conditions generally are improving. The state-federal crop report, based on June 1 observations, estimate that the apple crop of the state as slightly more than half a crop. Pear production this year also will suffer a decided reduction from last year's record, present crop conditions indicate. Estimates are that the yield will be about one-fifth of a crop, but reports vary from 10 to 30 percent of a normal yield.

HAIRSTONES BATTER
RAPID CITY WINDOWS

RAPID CITY, S. D., June 17. (AP) — President Coolidge raced over steep mountain trails in his limousine from Rapid City to the summer white house in the Black Hills today when a severe hail and rain storm, which crashed in windows and tore thru automobile tops, threatened to overtake him. He had left the executive offices about 20 minutes before on the 32 mile drive to the state game lodge when the storm suddenly blew out of the north, but after driving swiftly, the summer residence was reached well before the rain began to fall there. The hail tore thru two windows in the president's private limousine near where he had been standing a few moments before, striking Pat McKenna, white house door-keeper, but not injuring him. Windows in the Rapid City residence of Everett Sanders, secretary to President Coolidge, also were broken by the large hailstones.

The race is expected to take ten days. Due to the dangerous condition of the Mississippi river, no night racing will be allowed. ## SENATE DEFEATS GASOLINE TAX BILL BY VOTE OF 25 TO 22 IN HEATED SESSION

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 17. (AP) — Administration forces in the Illinois senate today lost their first important battle. In this session of the general assembly when the bill for a two cent tax on gasoline was turned back by a vote of 25 to 22. When the vote was announced just after 2:30 o'clock the senate went into an uproar. Political posters had freely predicted an easy victory for the bill and its defeat fell in the midst of its proponents with all the force of a bombshell. The vote was first announced as 24 to 22, two votes under the number necessary for passage. A recount showed 25 affirmative votes. A second verification of the roll call finally showed the vote was 25 to 22, one vote less than necessary. Move Adjournment. A motion to adjourn immediately took precedence and all motions to reconsider were lost, definitely ending any hopes for a gas tax bill this session. Since the first day of the session, a tax on gasoline has been meditated. The first official administration bill was introduced by Senator Meents, Kankakee, a acknowledged spokesman of Governor Small. Cook county Senators took exception and Senator Meents, three weeks ago withdrew his bill. The bill then appeared in the house under the protection of Representative A. Otis Arnold, Quincy. It was a compromise measure, splitting proceeds from a two cent tax between the state and the county. Pushed rapidly thru the lower house, it came up on the senate floor this week. Then, it developed, the fight was no longer between Cook county and downstate. On the final roll call, the bill was defeated without the aid of four downstate members while eight downstate members joined with the opposition. Political Whip Removed. It was clearly indicated, both by opponents and proponents, that behind the gas tax was all the force of the administration. Thinly veiled references to a "political whip" forcing certain members to withhold their personal sentiments on the bill permeated almost every speech of the opposition. "I warn the Chicago members," said Senator Denvir, Chicago, minority floor leader, "that faces of Cook county members who vote in favor of this pernicious legislation will never be seen in these halls another session. "Your people are opposed almost to a man to this bill. You must listen to the voice of the people, not to the voice of this state's executive. All the political forces or promises he has made you, cannot re-elect you if you don't fight this measure." Senator Tom Courtney, Chicago, leader of the opposition, insisted thruout that the bill would be beaten, despite the "counting of noses" by the bill's proponents showing 27 members favoring the bill. ## JOHN R. THOMPSON RESTAURANT CHIEF OF CHICAGO, DEAD

Famed for One Arm Lunch
Rooms—Began Life in Vermillion County

CHICAGO, June 17. (AP) — John R. Thompson, capitalist and restaurateur who made a fortune out of the "one arm" lunch room business, died today at his home in Lake Forest where he had been ill for several months of heart disease. Cut of a general store in Vermillion county, Thompson obtained the "shoe string" capital with which he entered the restaurant business in Chicago. The first of his chain was on South State street and was opened in 1881. Three years later Thompson added two more eating places and thereafter he acquired several a year. The Thompson chain was incorporated in 1907. A $6,000,000 corporation took over the business in 1914 but the controlling interest remained with the founder. After this Illinois farm boy had made a fortune in the restaurant business he invested heavily in a stock breeding farm at Libertyville, Ill. This venture, it was said, was not so successful and a portion of his fortune was lost. The Libertyville farm was sold in 1924. Thompson was born on a Vermillion county farm in 1865. He attended normal school, but after completing his course decided to open a general store near his home. In 1891 he turned toward Chicago. He served as Republican county committee man for years and was treasurer of Cook county four years. After being defeated for mayor in 1912, he retired from politics.

LUTHERANS IN MEET
CONDEMN MODERNISM

OMAHA, Neb., June 17. (AP) — The fundamentalist position of the Lutheran church was reaffirmed in strong resolutions condemning modernism and theological rationalism adopted today by the Lutheran Augustana synod, in convention here. The synod declared its unalterable conviction that "the Bible is the word of God" and that it is the only "infallible guide that reveals the way of salvation." The convention also declared the sacraments to be an indispensable means of grace, and warned members against regarding infant baptism as "merely an established custom and purposeless ceremony." Members were also warned against worldly frivolity and lusts and were urged to pray for "a much needed spiritual awakening and outpouring of the holy spirit." Establishment of parish schools as well as religious instruction in connection with public schools received endorsement. The synod reiterated its unwavering confidence in the 16th amendment and declared itself firmly opposed to its repeal or modification. Dr. G. A. Brandelle, Rock Island, Ill., was re-elected president of the synod for a four year term today. His salary was also raised $1,000 to $5,000 and expenses a year. K. T. Anderson of Rock Island, was elected treasurer.

ARMY TO MAKE TRY
OF FLIGHT ACROSS
OCEAN TO HONOLULU

Giant Fokker Plane Under Test Jumps to Decide
Official Action

WASHINGTON, June 17. (AP) — An attempt to span the Pacific ocean between San Francisco and Honolulu will be made by the army air corps if success marks final tests now being given the giant Fokker transport plane selected for the hop. The 2,360 mile flight would be made late in July with Lieutenant Lester Maitland, army aviator, and Albert F. Hegenberger, pilot.

This was announced today by Assistant Secretary Davison in charge of the army's air activities, when the Fokker plane, enroute to the west coast from Dayton, Ohio, to complete its tests, turned up rumors that it would attempt a flight to the islands. Plans for the hop, it was disclosed, have been held in secret for some months with the intention of keeping them confidential until everything was in readiness. Mr. Davison emphasized that it was an army project of long standing without inspiration drawn from the trans-Atlantic flights of Lindbergh and Chamberlin and that it had no connection with prizes recently offered for a Hawaiian flight. If the hop is successful he said, Maitland and Hegenberger would not be eligible to receive any prizes.

REED AND BORAH TALK ABOUT COOLIDGE FISH

Washington, June 17. (AP) — President Coolidge's reported accomplishment of catching trout with worm bait stirred senatorial circles today to the extent of comment from a Republican — Borah of Idaho — and a Democrat — Reed of Missouri. Declaring he had never heard of worm fishing for trout, Mr. Borah said he believed the president caught catfish and thought they were trout, "but if they were trout they must have been imbeciles." From Mr. Reed came this observation: "Any trout that will lie at the bottom of a lake and bite a worm is a degenerate trout. As a matter of generosity and common fairness, however, I hope he used a whole worm."

once for United States senator and once for governor of his state.

When Lindbergh walked down the gangplank of the Memphis and ran the gauntlet of the receiving line of dignitaries, one man whom he greeted most warmly was Senator Shipstead of Minnesota. The warmth of that greeting grew out of a single paragraph among the many "Lindy" had received after his landing in Paris. The message was simple, but deep with meaning. "You are the worthy son of a brave father," was all it said. Senator Shipstead had sent it. He knew where he spoke, for he had been associated with Lindbergh Sr., in all his chequered political history.

Congressman Lindbergh belonged to the little group of Progressive republicans in the House. He was often classed as a radical, and he stood for many of the progressive measures that are now a part of the federal law. He was a staunch friend of labor.

Because he opposed the entrance of the United States into the World War, Lindbergh Sr. faced mobs in Minnesota during his campaign for governor in 1918. He was defeated in the campaign by only a narrow margin. Altho his stand on issues of the day may at times have been wrong, he was a man who fought stoutly for what he believed to be right. He died in 1924 in the midst of preparations to again enter the political arena.

This then was the father of the man who crossed the ocean alone in a small airplane, dependent only on gasoline and the sheer endurance of iron and steel to save him from the fate that overtook the two French flyers only a short time before. With infinite skill and daring, the younger Lindbergh did a thing which had never before been done and earned for himself world fame. Surely he was the son of his father, and from the man who could fight political rings and blaze the trail of the pioneer in many fields of progressive law, from this man the young flyer must have inherited that courage and daring which enabled him to face and

EDUCATIONAL ATHLETICS

The problem of athletics in high schools and colleges has arisen because of two different points of view.

On the one hand are educators who believe that athletics has a legitimate place in any well-rounded educational system along with literature, science, mathematics, and the other academic and technical subjects.

On the other hand are the on-lookers who demand intercollegiate athletics for great public spectacle and the alumni who desire athletic victories as advertising for their Alma Mater. These on-lookers and alumni have had their way in recent years until the whole system has brought trouble and criticism to the schools.

A change seems to be coming.

Dr. Storms, president of Baldwin Wallace College, remarked recently: "We believe that 'high pressure' coaching that aims to win at all costs, nerves the team to an abnormal tension, scuts for athletes regardless of scholarship and puts sole emphasis upon intercollegiate contests, is losing credit in the college world." Athletics that help to educate will be the future aim.

Possibly this is true, although the change will not be completely effected this year or next. There are all those new and expensive stadiums throughout the country which have to be paid for with large gate receipts. And there are still the alumni who keep their scholarship and athletic ambitions for the old school in quite separate compartments of their minds and consider a good coach more important than a good educator.

Yet it is not a hopeless outlook. A sterner balance is bound to be struck one of these days.

LITERARY QUARANTINE

The Winnipeg Tribune is urging the Canadian government to take action on barring from the Dominion "literary fifth" of American origin.

"There is no need to establish a literary censorship," observes the Tribune. "The magazines in question do not rank as literature at all. They are cheap, degraded, filthy. They are magazine garbage. On the same principle that we ban importations of diseased plants and bulbs and roots, they should be permanently excluded from Canada."

The problem may not be quite so simple as that, but the principle seems sound. There is ample justification for a quarantine against a lot of printed matter produced in New York and Chicago, and dumped onto decent communities near and far. Our own states and cities might defend themselves from pollution on that principle. Here is something worse than the cork borer or the foot and mouth disease.

THE HEROIC GOOD TURN

A 13-year-old Boy Scout in California the other day risked his own life in order to flag and stop a Santa Fe passenger train which would otherwise have been wrecked by an obstruction of ties and rocks placed on the tracks.

The brief news item telling this deed of heroism calls it the boy's "good turn" for the day. One doesn't get a chance to do as important a service as that every day or many times in a single day. But to imagine a boy that is intelligent enough to recognize such an emergency and alert enough to know the right thing to do and courageous enough to do it promptly in spite of personal danger is a pretty good kind of have around.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Author of "You Can," "Take It," "Up."

WHAT YOU OWE

In the first place you owe to yourself, to those who bore you, and to the world far more than you can ever hope to pay.

There are all too many who have the mistaken idea that the world owes them a living. As a matter of plain honest fact, the world owes you nothing. It owes nothing to me. The owing is on the other side of the ledger.

Who can ever pay for the rich, velvet face of the pansy? Who can ever raise enough in material wealth to buy a star, or a sunbeam? Who owns the waterfall? Where does courage come from? Who ever thought of buying, or even offering to buy, a million dollars worth of grit?

What do all the enormous offers of wealth amount to that have been strown to the feet of that boy Lindbergh who has demonstrated anew the value behind courage and the will to do?

They only are rich who give and give.

We are all heavily in debt. The world has never adequately paid its debt to that courageous human being, Admiral Peary, who was the first to touch the top of the world. The writer of this brief piece has in his library a letter from this great trail maker, a letter in which he gives the fullest credit to those about him, who for years cleared the way for his final triumph.

The great always give advice to others. They know how much they owe, how much they owe that they can never pay. They really never want any pay anyway. They know that they are merely paying a debt that they owe.

Tonight I shall sleep with the song of a tiny wren in my heart, in appreciation of the little hum that I hung for it in the gum tree that overhangs the spring below my bedroom window.

Communications

In this column the Journal will give space to communications from readers on subjects of general interest. Names of writers must accompany manuscripts even if the names are not printed.

Flower lovers of Jacksonville should not miss going by 236 West Morton avenue some morning soon to see the lovely array of poppies blooming on the boulevard. You will not find a lovelier sight anywhere in town than these gay, gossamer blossoms which make such a gorgeous splash of color against the prevailing green of June. It is a new and public spirited thing to go to plant flowers where the entire public may have the full benefit and enjoyment of their beauty. Why should not the rest of us "Go and do likewise?"

—Anna Wakely Jackson.

FORMER GREEN COUNTY MAN IS PROMOTED

White Hall, June 17.—Colonel Charles H. Bridges, latter of White Hall, has been advanced to the rank of brigadier general with his appointment as assistant adjutant general with the above rank, the appointment to become effective July 1st. He is a son of the late Hoffman Bridges, an early White Hall merchant, and his mother, who survives, is generally known as Mrs. Annette Cheney, who has been in California for the past few years. Col. Bridges attended the White Hall school, but moved to Jerseyville early in life, following the marriage of his mother with the late Judge Prentiss D. Cheney of that city, and there he graduated from the high school with the class of 1892. He completed his military studies at West Point in 1897, later serving in the Spanish-American war, and was with the American Expeditionary force in France during the World war with the rank of colonel, magazine articles at that time picturing him with General Pershing as a member of Pershing's staff.

The oldest mercantile establishment in White Hall, Lowenstein & Sons, will become an exclusive hardware store after July 1st with the discontinuance of the grocery department. This business was established in 1877 as an exclusive grocery by the late Isaac Lowenstein, and at his death in September, 1895, the business was continued under the name of Lowenstein & Sons by two sons, Mark and Claude. In more recent years the firm has been branching out in other lines, particularly hardware, and with the changed conditions in the retail trade the hardware line will be given exclusive attention on a scale that will be in keeping with the magnitude of the business that has always taken first rank in its lines in White Hall.

The name of Lowenstein has important connection with the history of White Hall, and in all the ramifications of the name in local community affairs finds the basis in the original business established by Isaac Lowenstein, embracing merchandising, finance, writings, charitable and religious enterprises, while the greatest of these take in reclamation and industrial enterprises that have contributed immeasurably to the progress and growth of White Hall.

DEATHS

Mrs. Anna Lankular
Mrs. Anna Lankular, Ashland, Ill., died at Passavant hospital, June the 17th at 7 a. m. after over a year of painful suffering. She had undergone several operations in hopes of permanent relief and all that medical attention and loving tender care could do was done, but all these failed to stay the grim reaper.

Anna Brown, daughter of Tyre and Elizabeth Jane Brown, was born October 21st, 1861, at the old Brown homestead, near Sinclair, Ill. There she grew to womanhood, attending the country school and church, becoming a member of the Christian church in her girlhood. There she was married to William Henry Lankular, March 21st, 1889. To this union four sons were born. Lester, of Prentice, Ill.; Harding of Ashland, Ill.; Alfred E. and Amos at home. These with the husband and two grandchildren, Floyd Eugene and Lola Pearl, one brother, T. S. Brown of Lexington, Neb., and two sisters, Mrs. Julia Ann Enright of Grand Island, Neb., and Mrs. Sarah Jane Perkins of San Antonio, Texas, are left to mourn the loss of a loving wife, mother, sister and grandmother.

She was a good woman and will be sadly missed in the Lankular household where she has attended and worked for over 20 years. All of her life has been spent in Morgan County, never very far from her childhood home. The body was taken to Ashland to the Zahn mortuary and will be taken to the home northeast of Sinclair Saturday morning.

alrmaid fillers and the mechanics of Lambert-St. Louis field—there was a slight subtle change.

Greeted With Clamor.
The youth with whom they pranked seemed a little older. That was it, as expressed in the language of one of the grimy mechanics—"he's tired-looking and he looks a little older."

Hurling out of the clouds which restricted vision to the very edge of the 200 acre flying field, Colonel Lindbergh was upon welcome before they realized it was he. He had dropped his convoy of 32 planes at Scott Field, Belleville, Ill., and was winging it home in lonely majesty until Love picked him up. The 5,000 at the field sent up a wild shout when it was realized "Slim" was home, mingling with it the roaring of automobile and airship exhausts and the honking of automobile horns.

"Slim" soared low over the row of houses, banked, and then headed into the wind. He quartered back, "crabbing," that is, going forward sideways, and again turned, zooming up over the crowd and glancing his ship into the wind for a landing on the precise spot marked off for him. It was a typical Lindbergh landing—a sharp turn and a sideslip—and light as a feather.

Surrounded by soldiers. Immediately his plane was surrounded by soldiers, who formed a circle about the Spirit of St. Louis.

The crowd felt silent. They remained perfectly still and there was only the sound of Colonel Lindbergh's motor as he whirled and taxied over to the reception committee.

Then there went up a relieved cheer. Another part of the air which Lindbergh opened the door of his plane and slowly crawled out. There was a continuation of cheering his every movement, while he performed the double function of unlimbering and walking up and down for photographers, while he shook hands with his well-wishers in the flight, while he was being greeted by his mother and while he walked to the automobile in which he was whisked away from the field within ten minutes after he landed.

Until her illustrious son had seen to the condition of his ship, posed for the picture machine and greeted a few of his friends, Mrs. Lindbergh remained in the background. She arrived at the field more than an hour before Colonel Lindbergh was due.

Greeted Grimly Friend.
The congratulations against a rush by the crowd were so effective that but few of Lindbergh's personal friends and admirers could get to him.

One mechanic, unidentified, thru a hand between the rows of soldiers and called out, "Hey Slim."

Lindbergh grasped the grimy paw and called out a cheery "hello."

Major Albert B. Lambert, one of the backers of the New York to Paris flight, was the first to greet the boy hero. Mayor Victor Miller was next.

Secretary of War Davis, permitted his enthusiasm to carry him out on the field, and a regular army second lieutenant from Jefferson Barracks ordered him back.

"All right, son," replied the secretary and he walked to the sidelines.

For his flight from New York, Colonel Lindbergh had generally good weather until he got to St. Louis, where it had been raining all day.

Near St. Louis the fog and smoke was so thick that planes within fifty yards of each other were not visible.

Tonight Colonel Lindbergh and his mother were guests at the St. Louis country home of Harry H. Knight, also one of the backers of the historic flight.

Colonel Lindbergh probably will not make any plans for the future for a week or two, or at least not until after this city's three day celebration for him is over. In an interview with newspapermen tonight the colonel refused to comment on his plans for the future, other than to say that he was glad to get home among his friends and that it might be two weeks before he would decide on what he would do.

The flying colonel is still undecided as to whether or not he will attend the war show to be held at Chicago beginning June 25. Asked if he planned to take in the show, Lindy said, "well, I'd like to be there but I don't know whether I'll go or not."

He did not discuss the show further.

SENATE DEFEATS GASOLINE TAX BILL

"We have enough money to keep our highway department busy for three years," he said "why do you want more?" What will be done with it? Where will it go? Who will spend it? Mr. Sheets, chief highway engineer has not been consistent in his figures. First he estimated that gas tax would net $9,000,000 annually. Now he figures $13,000,000 annually.

"The road fund contains more than $100,000,000—more than the department can spend in three years for construction, maintenance and retirement of interest on bonds."

Downstaters joining hands with the persistent opponents were: Abt, Burgess, Dally, Dunlap, Emmons, Hicks, Kessinger, Reynolds, Dunlap and Dally had opposed the bill thruout. Emmons, by his expression, was between the "devil and the deep sea," when he voted nay. Senator Wood, Chicago, remarked "he wished to thank Emmons for 'jumping.' Burgess charged that amendments to the bill had not been fairly considered. The other downstaters failed to explain their votes.

Gravity followed for four hours, starting at 10:30 and continuing to 2:30. Plans of senators to adjourn in time to catch a 2:30 train were completely upset by the discussion.

Great Shooting Wins American Open Title

(BY ALAN J. GOULD)

The Associated Press Sports Editor OAKMONT, Pa., June 17. (AP)—Tommy Armour of Washington, D. C., doughty steel purred son of golf's native domain, today became the open champion of the United States. In a comeback, as flashing and dramatic as the finish that carried him to a tie the day before, the lean, war-scarred Scotch professional broke the heart of the dashing, sleek-haired Los Angeles professional, Harry Cooper, captured their 18-hole play-off for the title by a margin of three strokes and stepped to the throne that Bobby Jones had left in the sand traps of Oakmont's unbalanced terrain.

Armour triumphed by the decisive score of 76 to 75 for the final round that broke the deadlock in which they reached yesterday in 61 strokes for the regulation 72 holes of tournament competition and sent the coveted silver trophy up to the Congressional Country Club where Tommy is "pro".

Sinks 55 Foot Putt
Armour clinched the championship today on the sixteenth hole where Cooper fought a losing battle with Oakmont's sand and forfeited two strokes, but it was a 55 foot putt on the hole before that had put Tommy back in the fight and a spectacular chip shot dead on the pin on the seventeenth that saved the title for the lanky, two-handed Scot.

The drama of Armour's triumph was enacted about these treacherous holes. Armour was a stroke behind Cooper going to the 475 yard fifteenth hole, a margin that the Los Angeles "pro" had gained by a flying start on the last nine, heeded only when Armour remained on the edge of the hole on the short seventeenth.

Both found traps going to the fifteenth green and were on in three shots each, their balls some 10 feet from the cup. But Armour, shooting first, sent a long, curling putt straight to the hole, the longest and most spectacular of the day, and caught his rival as "Light Horse Harry" just missed his own putt for a four.

Perhaps this unexpected break upset Cooper, for his tee shot was wild and caught a trap off the edge of the sixteenth green and his chances slipped fast as he failed to get out on his explosion shot, finally clipped short and required two putts for a disastrous five.

Two Great Shots
Armour, too, was in a bit of trouble, the rough, just off the green, but he clipped close and sank his par three to jump to a lead that seemed too great for Cooper to overcome in two holes.

The "light horse" of the links, however, had one more shot up his sleeve and it was only his opponent's greatness that prevented the Los Angeles star's final bid from making good. Going to the 202 yard 17th, both were 50 yards from the green with their tee shots.

Cooper raised a mighty roar by firing his chip straight to the hole, the ball stopping only a foot away and assuring a "birdie" three. Undaunted and unperturbed, Armour, with a trap between him and the hole, shot straight for the flag and a mighty roar went up as his ball landed two inches inside Cooper's.

It was the sort of an iron shot, the much shorter, that had given Armour his "birdie" three on the final green to the Cooper yesterday and when it landed, Harry knew his last hopes of a national title were crushed.

Armour had met a champion's test with a champion's shot and it was an anti-climax as this master of iron play clinched the title, adding one more stroke to his lead with a par four on the last hole to Cooper's five. But there was enough of shouting, anyway. Armour, his restraint gone, was erabbed by his brother, Sandy Armour and Bobby Cruikshank, the diminutive Scotch star who started the tournament among the foremost favorites and finished it as an adviser to the victor.

"FAN BREEZES"

Mrs. Don't you think that women's dresses are becoming shorter?

Mr.: Yes, very much more becoming. (From Life).

Now it's your turn.

Harry saved our life last night.

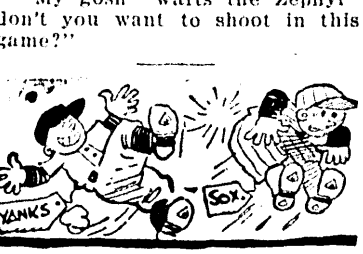

We were sick and he ministered unto us.

Still, we don't feel very good yet and may palm off a few jokes some-one else has used in order to fill up the column this morning.

We heard the Zephyrs going hot again yesterday. He was battling Jennie (the little wren) in a game of billiards and once, when the Zephyr missed a shot, Jennie chirps:

"You weren't so lucky that time."

"My kosh," wails the Zephyr "don't you want to shoot in this game?"

Looks now as if the Yanks were out to get the American League pennant. When some team gets good enough to stop this procession of major league pennants from parading to New York, there is going to be a real battle among the mid-west teams.

Baby Ruth has found his batting eye and to date, unless we have our dates mixed, he has slugged out 21 four base hits.

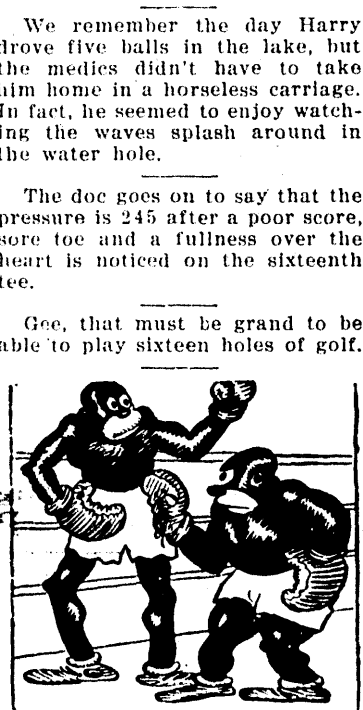

Babe has been given everything in Boston, including a police card and uniform.

Dr. Eugene Lyman Fisk says that the blood pressure of a normal golfer after driving into a water hole is 230.

We remember the day Harry drove five balls in the lake, but the medics didn't have to take him home in a horseless carriage. In fact, he seemed to enjoy watching the waves splash around in the water hole.

The doc goes on to say that the pressure is 245 after a poor score, sore toe and a fullness over the heart is noticed on the sixteenth tee.

Gee, that must be grand to be able to play sixteen holes of golf.

COVELESKI RELEASED FROM SENATOR CAMP

PROBE STOCK SELLING OF LINDBERGH COMPANY

WILMINGTON, Del., June 17. (AP)—Stock selling activities of the Lindbergh Aeronautics corporation, represented here by Vincent Dudas, of Cleveland, Ohio, in which state the company was formed recently, are being investigated by the William J. Burns Detective Agency, at the instance of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce. It was learned today.

The investigators have learned, they said, that the corporation, capitalized at $500—Five hundred shares of no par value—was planning to sell one million shares of no par value stock at $100 a share.

The prospectus of the company, which led to the commerce body's action states that "the Lindbergh aeronautics corporation has been organized under the laws of Ohio to manufacture and sell aeroplanes and do everything pertaining to aeronautics."

The prospectus was signed, "The Lindbergh Aeronautics corporation, Equitable Building, Wilmington, Del. (and in many other cities soon)."

Dudas was reported by Burns agents to have told them the company "hoped to push the sale of stock over quickly due to Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's popularity."

The trans-Atlantic flier would not be president of the company, Dudas said, but most likely would be made vice-president.

Colonel Lindbergh, the agency said, declared he was in no way connected with the aeronautics corporation.

MODISH MITZI

Homeward Bound

By Jay V. Jay

Mitzi and Polly are homeward bound. Trunks checked! Passports handy. But where did she put her steamship tickets? Lost? Well, at least forgotten. It does not, however, keep her attention from Polly's new two piece traveling Polly had the ticket all the time! It doesn't matter exactly where she concealed it in her new pocketbook. Mitzi refuses to worry about it, anyway because the boat is in sight which is practically as good as seeing the statue of Liberty. After all, her cape is new, the upstanding collar is smart and the color is gray (the best color for fall). After all what is there to worry about? Nothing. Nothing else really matters unless it might be the loss of her trunk.

Next Week—Sports Wear.

Straight From Paris
By Hazel Reavis
(Associated Press Fashion Editor)

Yokes For Autumn
Late Fashion News
PARIS—There is a rumor that yokes are to be an important innovation on many coats and day-time dresses this fall.

The evidence to bear out the report is still quite slender but the hectic looking people who emerge from the dressmaking workshops with their mouths full of pins and faces full of importance, agree that there may be something to the report.

At Worth's one of the newest coats has a yoke design accentuated by solid cross stitch of several tones. There is a deep band of the same cross stitch at the bottom of the coat.

Handkerchiefs Grow
Large and Colored
PARIS—Boy size handkerchiefs are the newest for wear with women's tailored costumes. Many are worn in pale colored crepe de chine with darker borders. But the favorites are crisp colored linens or muslins, with white borders, and white embroidered initials.

For evening the old fashioned real lace, bordered handkerchief has been revived. One house shows colored handkerchiefs with two inch borders of fine tatting.

Ornament Shoe Laces
Is Fashion's New Word
PARIS—Fancy ends for the laces of walking shoes and dance pumps are a new idea. The laces on oxfords are in small acorn-like balls of wood, enamel or metal. These new dangles are called tabs.

Flat bows on dance pumps may have little ornaments of jet or jewels dangling from them. The amusing little ends are doing much to increase the popularity of low shoes which fasten with laces.

CHAPTER LXVI
Flashes in the Argonne—
The walls of a dugout in the Bois de la Gruerie, near LaHara-zee and Les Islettes, are two feet thick. The roof is of four-foot concrete, topped by vertical and horizontal layers of inch-thick iron. This structure, with tunnels leading 30 feet into the ground, was occupied by Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria before the 77th American division claimed the property.

At Gesnes—a monument marking the spot where the 362d U. S. infantry turned back on September 27, 1918 — turned back when orders came to withdraw because the soldiers were too far ahead of the troops on the right and left.

At the Moulin de Champigneulle, a few walls remain—and the sparkling Argon gurgles over the rocks where the dam used to be.

Near Apremont and Montblainville—mile after mile of rusted, weed-grown railroad—built by Americans—unused since the Armistice

In Sivry-les-Buzancy — four workmen wrecking a two-story wall of a shell-wrecked house

At Varennes — the columned monument erected by the people of the state of Pennsylvania in memory of the 28th division's achievement in capturing the town—and below it, near the banks of the Alre, an American doughboy's helmet, with two tiny holes in it.

NEW YORK, June 17. (AP)—The recovery in stock prices today sent nearly a score of issues to record high levels, but was checked later by the usual heavy weekend profit-taking. Final quotations were irregular, total sales crossed the two million mark.
Easy credit conditions were again a factor. Call money opened at four per cent and was in plentiful supply all day at the figure. The sharp drop in freight charges in the week ended June 4 as compared with the preceding week, and corresponding week last year was interpreted in some quarters as an indication of a falling off in general business. The weekly mercantile reviews were rather colorless.

Gossip concerning the possibility of an extra call on stock dividends continued to accompany the rise in General Motors which touched a high mark of 20 1/2. Willys-Overland closed fractionally higher.
Among the specialties which were lifted to new highs were Jones Brothers Tea, National Tea, Sears Roebuck, Transcontinental Oil, American Bank Note, U. S. East, Iron Pipe, Preferred and White Sewing Machine.

Substantial gains were recorded by Pittsburgh Coal and some of the banking and amusement shares.
Unusually heavy buying of New Haven common which closed 2 1/2 points higher at 53 1/2, featured the railroad list. A drop of about two cents in bushels of wheat prices featured the commodity markets.
French francs and demand sterling ruled slightly easier around 3.91 cents and $4.85 respectively.
Belief that the July re-investment demand will help to clear away some of the accumulated new issues was given new strength by estimates that a record breaking amount, exceeding half a billion dollars will be paid in dividends and interest next month.
Convertible issues were again active, although profit-taking late in the session wiped out most of the advances.
U. S. Steel five advanced fractionally in response to brisk buying after Dominion Iron and Steel shares reached a new high for the year at 76.

DR. LOUISE DUNBAR IS LEAGUE SPEAKER

University Professor Speaks on Voting Before League of Women Voters—Officers for Year are Elected.

Speaking on "The Prospect Before Us" Dr. Louise Dunbar of the Department of History of the University of Illinois made a most informing and pleasant talk yesterday afternoon at the annual meeting of the Morgan County League of Women Voters, which was held at the home of Mrs. Herbert Capps, 620 West College avenue.

Approximately fifty of the members of the League met at 12:30 o'clock for a pot luck luncheon, after which the meeting was held.

Following two very interesting reports given by Mrs. Herbert Capps and Mrs. A. L. Adams on the work of the local organization for the past year, Dr. Dunbar said in part:

"In thinking of the prospects before us it is not too soon to begin to look forward to the next election. Of course the future is so vast that we can't forecast much, but we can think of the future prospect of the democratic government in the United States. For this subject I would like to ask and discuss some questions. For a number of decades the percentage of voters who have used their right to vote has been getting smaller and smaller. In 1876 there was a slight improvement, but then only 50 percent of the qualified people voted. In 1924 there was another slight improvement, which was partly due to the activity of the League of Women Voters, who did their part in making people see the importance of voting. In 1928 the League will be twice as old as it was in 1924 and it will have had twice the amount of experience it had then, so that it should be able to accomplish much by the time it brings out an intelligent, well informed vote."

"Another question is, 'Will the electorate of the future consist of the same classes of people as in the past?' In the colonial times religious beliefs and property rights influenced the vote, keeping a large number of people from having a voice in the government. But, since that time, little by little the masses have gotten the franchise. After the Civil War the colored race was given the right to vote. Later the Indians acquired the right and in the last decade women have obtained the privilege. 'What of the future, will there still be influence of religion, property, and the like? I suggest that the only restriction to be made be that of age. The most extensive formal training for citizenship is being given in the public schools; in the American History classes, and in the Civics classes. The time from the high school years to the voting age is a period of several years and much is forgotten in that time. The age limit could be lessened and responsibility placed on the shoulders of the boys and girls when they are studying how to vote."

"The Electorate
"Another question is 'Why not relieve some of the electorate of the many responsibilities they have?' The government has become very complex in late years, so why should the people who want public offices have professional training for them, as do doctors, lawyers, etc. Provide a course of political training in the universities and after the courses have the professional politicians bring to the government the use of their ability and give the confidence of their fellow citizens. We need good government, and to get it now we need some system of obtaining better executives."

"Are we sure with the changing of conditions that the rule of the majority is best? When we analyze the question we realize that the rule of the people is not only traditional in the United States, but it is the rule from the standpoint of helping obtain what we want in the future. However, some people say that since the country is getting bigger and bigger all the time and the larger it is the farther away from the machinery of the government the people will be there should be a different system. In small groups where you can be close to the running of things and see for yourself, better results are obtained. Some say that when democracies go mad they are as dangerous as insane kings. However, it is difficult to look ahead and see what will happen in the years to come. J. Russell Smith, business man of the country, and New England states an ideal summer resort area. The scientific world will bring about even greater development in our country. Organizations will contribute to a greater nation, but with it all there is no organization that has a better future before it than the League of Women Voters. It has the opportunity of making a real democracy.

At the conclusion of the address the annual election of officers was held with results as follows:

President—Dr. Grace Dewey.
First Vice President—Mrs. Alpha B. Applebee.
Second Vice President—Mrs. David Hueston.
Secretary—Mrs. M. H. Havenhill.
Treasurer—Mrs. Herbert Capps.

Directors—Mrs. A. L. Adams, Mrs. Walter Bradish, Mrs. Lillian Danks, Mrs. John Clark, Mrs. W. D. Roberts, Miss Mary Wadsworth, Mrs. C. H. Rammelkamp, Mrs. Leonora Tomlinson, Mrs. R. I. I. O. O. F. Annual memorial services, State Street Presbyterian church, Sunday, June 19, 1927, at 10:45 a. m. Odd Fellows meet at Illini No. 4 Hall, Rebekahs at Urania, 243 Hall, at 10 o'clock a. m. All visiting Odd Fellows and Rebekahs invited.

ZONING BOARD SAYS ORDINANCE SHOULD PASS

The Zoning Board of Appeals at a special meeting yesterday afternoon, recommended the passage by the city council of the pending ordinance to designate the property of the New Method Book Bindery and the lot adjoining it on the south as a district for light industrial use under the zoning ordinance. This will give the bindery firm the necessary permission to extend its plant. The board met to hear any objections to the change in the designated use of the property, but none were made. The recommendation of the board to the city council was signed by all the members and the president.
